Letter of Recommendation

For: Patryk Michael McGlynn
From: Michael Jon Melin, Chemistry Teacher and Basketball Coach
American School of Valencia

To Whom It May Concern,

It is with great pride and enthusiasm that I recommend Patryk Michael McGlynn, an extraordinary young man whose academic excellence, integrity, and leadership have distinguished him as one of the finest students I have taught and coached at the American School of Valencia.

As a student in my chemistry class, Patryk stood out for his sharp analytical mind, curiosity, and precision. He completed the IB Diploma Program with an outstanding score of 40, achieving top marks in Mathematics AA HL, Physics, Computer Science, and Business Management. His work reflected genuine intellectual depth and a capacity to connect theory with real-world application. Patryk's Extended Essay on AI-powered basketball biomechanics and his Business Management investigation into UPS's sustainable logistics both showcased his interdisciplinary curiosity and innovative thinking—rare even among top IB candidates.

Beyond the classroom, Patryk has been a cornerstone of our ASV varsity basketball team, where he served as a captain and three-year starter. He consistently demonstrated exceptional resilience, sportsmanship, and leadership. His achievements extend well beyond school competition: he represented Ireland's U16 and U18 National Teams, earned All-Star selections in Madrid and Geneva, and now competes with the DME Academy National Prep Team in the United States. Balancing the intensity of international athletics with the rigor of the IB Program required extraordinary discipline, time management, and inner drive—all of which Patryk displayed with humility and consistency.

Patryk's background reflects his global character. Having lived in the United States, Poland, and Spain, and being fluent in English, Polish, and Spanish, he has developed a unique adaptability and cross-cultural awareness that enriches every environment he joins. His natural ability to connect with people from different backgrounds, paired with his visionary mindset and entrepreneurial ambition, makes him a young man of both intellect and inspiration.

In every respect, Patryk embodies the balance of academic excellence, personal integrity, and leadership potential that top universities seek. I recommend him without reservation and with full confidence that he will make a meaningful and lasting contribution to any academic community he joins.

Sincerely,
Michael Jon Melin
Chemistry Teacher & Varsity Basketball Coach
American School of Valencia
mikemelin@asvalencia.org